

Arnold Morse Receives Top General Counsel Executive Award

The general counsel executives in the government contracting community are expected to remain abreast of the shifting technological and legal landscape in order to provide legal advice on business strategies, strategy implementation, domestic and international business transactions, as well as general business issues.

ExecutiveBiz's editorial leaders and staffers reached out to GovCon companies and federal agencies to identify who they view as the sector's most prominent general counsel executives for this year's Top General Counsel Executives Award selection. CNSI's Chief Legal Counsel, Arnold Morse, was among one of the recipients for the Top General Counsel Executive Award.

Click here to learn more about the Executive Mosaic's Top General Counsels in Government Contracting Award and winners.