CNSI Looks to Consolidate

When Adnan Ahmed and three friends founded Gaithersburg-based CNSI two decades ago, they could not have predicted what the company would be working on today. They specialized in business transformation technology – which meant servers and databases. Read Full Article

When Adnan Ahmed and three friends founded Gaithersburg-based CNSI two decades ago, they could not have predicted what the company would be working on today. They specialized in business transformation technology – which meant servers and databases. Read Full Article